

Why my grandparents are important to me

Grandparents Day is being celebrated in the US on September 12, 2021. On this day, people of different generations are encouraged to come together and connect. We invite you to use this form to write down your thoughts about one or more of your grandparents—or any special older people in your life. You can share this form with them. They may enjoy knowing what you have to say! We would also love to read what you write and see your artwork. To share your thoughts and drawing with us, ask an adult to email your form to hello@theweekjunior.com. Extra forms can be found at theweekjunior.com/activities.

In honor of Grandparents Day, explain why your grandparents are important to you.

If you could describe your grandparents in three words, which three words would you choose?

What is your favorite memory of being with your grandparents?

Draw a picture of you with your grandparents.

By submitting this form, you give The Week Junior consent to print it in the magazine and online. Get your parent/guardian's permission before sending anything to us.
